Howard Sharp

BLUESTONE FOR CANE

Copper sulphate, applied as crystals sprinkled on the ground and worked in, was more helpful in promoting the growth of sugar cane in sawgrass land than any of the fertilizers that were applied in adjoining plots. W. P. Jernigan, chemist at the sugar mill, reports. Several plots of cane were planted in plots for the purpose of observing the results of fertilizing. The cane suffered backsets by high water and frosts and none were doing well. Since the application of the copper sulphate that plot has grown more than two feet while canes in the other plots are still languishing. B. A. Bourne, pathologist of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, says the copper sulphate probably is a stimulant and not a true fertilizer. S. W. Hiatt, county agent, had reported that the only thing that helped vegetation at the Everglades experiment station at Belle Glade was copper sulphate. Copper sulphate is the same material as bluestone that is used in making Bordeaux. Mr. Jernigan has an idea that copper sulphate may correct the condition that bean growers observe in their beans patches last year, when the stalks were hollow and spindling.

TWO SIDES TO QUESTION

A letter received at this office this week from a buyer of land in the middle Glades complained about the situation he was in by reason of the purchase of land in development in that region. His letter was forwarded to the head of the company with a hint that comment would be interesting. The reply is as follows:

"The great trouble with a lot of people who purchase land not only in the Everglades but elsewhere, is that they do not seem to realize that the only way to make money out of agricultural land is to farm it; but a great many buy with the idea of either getting rich with very little work or turning the same over at a profit.

"As you know, there is no branch of agriculture which does not require work and lots of it, and the Everglades is no exception to the rule.

"If this buyer will have his tract cleared and plowed and either farm the same himself or have some one else farm it for him, it will bring him some return."

PUMPS KEEP WATER DOWN

How efficiently the Fairbanks-Morse engines and Wood screw pump operate to add water to a level proper for farm operations is stated by A. L. Mathews, president of the Palm Beach Farms Company, in the course of a letter to The Everglades News. The property he refers to in the letter is the Gladeview drainage district about five miles west of 20-mile bend: "There is no trouble at all about in the outside canal is standing at elevation 15.8, whereas we have water in our main canal down to 10 most of the time. We had a rain of 3/4 inches yesterday (Sunday) and the water in the main canal was still at elevation 10. So you see we have drainage taken care of."

With water in the outside canal at elevation 15.8 feet and water inside the dike at elevation 10, this means that the water table in the dike and pumped area was nearly six feet below the surface of water on the outside.

TOO MUCH WATER

Tomato vines that were yellow when the water table was within two feet of the surface took on better and more natural appearance and made good fruit when the water table went down. O. B. McClure and Frank Friend remarked in the course of talk when they called Wednesday at the office of The Everglades News. This was the experience last year on section 5, south of Pahokee and was observed in other fields than their own. This supports the belief that the trouble with beans was too much water, also. It is not that the land is wearing out, they say, and recall that the land grows just as big crops of weeds as it ever did, the inference being that it will grow big weeds it is still capable of producing beans and tomatoes.

BARGE OVERHAULED

The Bryan & Holloway tug Levian, in command of William Hunt, came into Canal Point harbor Tuesday night from Okeechobee bringing a big barge that had been overhauled at the Standard ways. The barge was being taken to Clewiston, where it was to be loaded with coal for the company's dredges. This is one of the barges that will haul rock from North New River canal for the Bacom Point-Canal Point road.

FARMS NORTH AND SOUTH

CARIBOU, Maine, Aug. 21.—One Maine citizen who has discovered a successful method of farming the year around is George V. Brown of this town. Mr. Brown raises a large crop of Spaulding Rose potatoes every year at Caribou, planting upward of 30 acres of his own. He is purchasing enough from his neighbors to give him control of about 5,000 sacks every fall. These he takes to Florida, where he disposes of part of them to farmers for seed, also planting about 20 acres of his own, which he cares for during the winter months, marketing them to good advantage.

He thus finds an excellent opportunity of carrying on his line of work 12 months out of the year. As the farmer, Mr. Brown feels that his annual Florida pilgrimage solves one of the main difficulties connected with the farming industry in the north.

STARTING TREES

E. W. Simmons has two nut trees started on the lock-grounds from seed he got from W. F. Buchanan. Two or three persons along the ridge have trees from the same source.

When Mrs. A. L. Pope returned from Georgia she brought three small water-oak trees from the old home place and Mr. Pope set them out on the canal bank. They have roots but as this is not the best time of year to plant trees it is not again whether they will live.

Several months ago W. G. Todd, the bridge tender, got some cuttings and rootlets from his old home in Mississippi and some of them were planted near the office of The Everglades News. One of them is thriving and thriving. It probably is of the myrtle family.

SUNFLOWER SEED

MARIANNA.—A new and very promising industry seems destined for development in Jackson county, and that is the cultivation of sunflowers for the seed. One of the largest of these flowers was exhibited here a few days ago, and it was said to have yielded about one quart of seed. The flower was 15 inches across and was grown on what is known as the Haas farm, some miles south of Marianna. The sunflower seed brings about $8 per bushel in market.

LETTERS FROM READERS

E. J. Cooper, Okeelanta, Fla.: "I enclose check for $2.50 for renewal of your paper, which I enjoy reading. Referring to land mowers, I have one but am not able to use it—too much water. I hope to see more drainage, which we are greatly in need of. We cannot depend on much as long as the canals are in the shape they are at present."

C. H. Himmelwright, Wildwood, N. J.: "I am sending check for $5 for two years subscription. Also, hope you give me credit for owning a lawn mower at Belle Glade. I have not seen anything in the paper about my house turning over in the hurricane and hope I won't. You speak of bank failures and hurricanes having a bad effect on business. Sharp, you ought to get down on your knees and thank heaven for getting off so easily, as up north things are a darn sight worse. Only last week we had a storm or cyclone that upset or nearly destroyed a row of houses in our town and the lightning killed a little girl and the papers only had a short head-line about it. If it had happened in Florida the papers would have put the story on the first page to advertise it. And I guess if the truth were known Florida banks have suffered less than most other states. We are having very warm weather and will be glad when it is time to go back to Belle Glade. You never stop to think what a fine state Florida is until you have been out of it for a while."

The West Palm Beach municipal band, directed by Everett Allen Moore, returned Saturday night from the national convention of the Spanish-American War Veterans at Des Moines, Iowa, where they were named the official band and led the grand parade of the convention.

PEOPLE WE KNOW

Arthur Brantley, who worked on the McCoy Line boats for several years is still living in Tampa. A man who met him there lately says Arthur is a federal prohibition law enforcement officer.

R. J. Simonson writes from Luxora, Ark., directing that his copy of the paper be sent to Pahokee instead of Litchfield, Ill., as he is starting back to Florida. He says the crops of cotton, corn and alfalfa in Arkansas are good.

Robert Ranson, for many years a resident of St. Augustine and known to many readers of this paper, has prepared a little volume which is issued under the title "East Coast Memoirs 1837 to 1886." The volume deals very largely with the life of, Mills Olcott, Barnham, a Florida pioneer. The value of the work is greater than the small number of its pages suggest and persons who are interested in the history of Florida will do well to send a dollar bill to Mr. Ranson, post office box 622, Miami, and get a copy.

LESS GOUGING BY HOTELS

JACKSONVILLE, Aug. 21.—Florida hotels generally have notified the Florida State Hotel Association of a reduction in rates for this season that places charges on a more reasonable basis than those prevalent in any resort section of the country, says the Florida State Chamber of Commerce.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION FOR TAX DEED

Under Section 777 of the Revised General Statutes of Florida

Notice is hereby given that J. Mulligan, purchaser of Tax Certificate No. 3056, dated the 7th day of August, A. D. 1916, has filed said certificate in my office and has made application for tax deed to issue in accordance with law. Said certificate embraces the following described property, situated in Palm Beach county, Florida, to-wit: Lot 98 S-D of SW 1/4 of NW 1/4, west of canal, section 27, township 45 south, range 43 east, 3 acres. The said land being assessed at the date of the issuance of such certificate in the name of W. H. Funk. Unless said certificate shall be redeemed according to law, tax deed will issue thereon on the 4th day of October, A. D. 1926.

COMMUNITY GOSSIP

When the post office was moved from where it was to where it is, Johnny Fultz, boatman-carrier of the mail from Clewiston, and Claude Coleman, new postmaster, did not agree as to whether the carrier contract required John to carry the sacks between the boat landing and the new post office site. They seem to have settled the question, for the Clewiston mail is distributed every night.

Canal Point has exceptionally good mail service and freight service. Getting mail from points around the lake by boat is the only practical method, and it gives Kramer Island service also. Johnny Fultz makes trips even when weather conditions are of a sort that would cause many other boatmen to lay up. Claude Coleman learned the ropes at the post office in less time than was expected of him by public opinion. Station Agent J. L. Daugherty showed his desire to give good service when the work train to set out cars of merchandise at Sand Cut siding, without waiting for the track to be repaired from the siding to the depot.

When Jack Pope came back from Georgia he planted some oak trees on the south side of the canal bank in front of his property. He had cleaned up the canal bank several weeks before he left. Jack Barrett is going to take up with Assistant Drainage Engineer Scott the matter of a bulkhead. By the proper sort of bluffing, two Jacks are as good as aces.

John Magaw rejects the suggestion that a tarom or hot dog stand or anything at all be located on the west side of Connors Highway. He says that it is to be Canal Point's park when it is filled in. In the ditch between the railroad and the highway the town already has an aquarium and a botanical garden, even if mosquitoes and hyacinths are the only exhibits in each so far.

The teaching staff of the Canal Point schools will consist of Professor H. L. Speer, principal; Miss Lois Oliver, history and English; Miss Catherine Bradley, mathematics and Latin; Miss Thelma Thornton, home economics and science; Mrs. McClelland, sixth and seventh grades; Mrs. W. A. Adams, fourth and fifth; Miss Eunice Swickard, second and third; Mrs. Dan Griffith, first grade. The eighth grade from the eighth grade at Pahokee.

This is Professor Speer's second year in charge of the Canal Point school. He is the Smith-Hughes teacher of agriculture as well as principal of the high school. Miss Bradley, who takes the place held last year by Mr. Kendall is from Swainsboro, Ga. Miss Thornton is from Mullins, S. C.; she takes work that was not given here last year.

The Canal Point school plant now consists of four buildings—the original and main brick building, a two-room frame building just finished, an agricultural class room and work shop built last year, and a slatshouse for shrubs and other plants. Mr. Speer, who was a repair man for the International Harvester Company for several years, is a mechanic as well as a teacher, has overhauled the lighting plant and the water system.

One of the rooms in the new frame building will be given over to home economics and science work; the other will be used by Mrs. McClelland's sixth and seventh grades. Additional equipment received recently includes tables for the laboratory and desks for teachers and desks for pupils made necessary to anticipate the larger enrollment.

FISHING GOOD AS USUAL

Dr. Emory J. Thomas of West Palm Beach, out here Tuesday, took a home with an iced box full of bass he caught at Forked river.

John Fultz, the champion woman fisherman, makes frequent visits to a place on St. Lucie canal where a ditch discharges and always gets a big string of bass or bream.

I. G. Williams is erecting a nice bungalow on the east side of Pahokee road, south of Station Agent Daugherty's house.

R. M. Baker stated yesterday that he would act as the local distributor for such school books as are not given to pupils free.

The assistant superintendent of the P. E. C. was in town yesterday. He has arranged for the train crew to put merchandise in the warehouse.

J. J. Miller of Plant City is the new manager of the Kilgore Seed Company's house. His wife and the four children came early this week and their household goods have been received.

The canal came to such high level Wednesday night that it moved the flashboards and the lake was running into the canal yesterday forenoon. A crew has been sent for to restore the flashboards.

Poles are being set in Canal Point for the Southern Bell Company's line. Wire has been strung from Pahokee to Canal Point between the seed company's store and the Canal Point garage.

Judge Lovorn and his son and Mr. Winship of Oklawaha paused in Canal Point yesterday on their way home from Delray where they attended a district convention of the Knights of Pythias. They hope a lodge of the order can be instituted on East Beach shortly.

Dr. T. L. Tatom of Lake Worth made a professional visit to Canal Point Wednesday. He has lately been given a high place in the plan of reorganization of Good Samaritan hospital in West Palm Beach by the medical society.

Dr. Tatom and his brother own a large tract of land near Miami canal.

Fever-Laden "Skeeters"

Bite Army Volunteers

Washington—Substituting voluntarily to bites of mosquitoes infected with dengue fever, 70 enlisted men of the forces in the Philippines have been mentioned in general orders for displaying "a high sense of duty and soldierly conduct worthy of emulation by others," the War department has announced.

As a result of the study of the infected men, army doctors have obtained valuable information for the treatment and prevention of the disease. The disease has now been reduced to slightly less than 20 in every 1,000, whereas in 1924 80 soldiers in every 1,000 in the Philippines suffered attacks of the fever.

JUST A ZEPHYR—FLORIDA

From Toledo (Ohio) Blade.

Florida has snatched something else out of California besides the monopoly on climate. This is the practice of suppressing or "playing down" any little unpleasantness which might tend to discourage the potential real estate investor or the tourist who has been lusting over the folders with the pictures of the palm trees on the covers of Chambers of Commerce in Florida.

Send word that that hurricane of the other day didn't amount to much, or responding to a drizzle in the Great Lakes area. But visitors there say the heavens opened and let loose enough water to make another Atlantic ocean.

CONSIDER ROUTES OF MARTIN COUNTY ROAD

(From Stuart Developer.)

Plans for construction of a hard surfaced road between the Seaboard railroad and near Indian town and Port Mayaca are under consideration by the board of county commissioners of Martin county.

Two routes are under discussion. One would follow the canal bank to Lake Okechobee. The other would take more direct route, saving more than a mile.

The advantage of the first route is that rock with which to build it is right at hand, taken from the bottom of the St. John's canal. For hardness, this rock is unexcelled anywhere in the state. It is understood that the county commissioners are seeking an arrangement with the state whereby the dredge Governor Herrick will throw rock out on the roadway, and the county's dragline machine will follow up, distributing it over the right-of-way. When rolled and surfaced, it is believed that this will make as fine a road as any in the state.

The advantage of the second route, besides its shortness, is that it is far enough away from the banks of the canal not to suffer damage from washes caused in heavy rains. The greater expense in connection with the present road along the canal has been in maintenance and repair of levees and culverts after heavy rains.

When the matter of pushing construction of this road was brought before the board of county commissioners by Floyd Ferris, resident engineer for the Mayaca Company, Commissioner Howard Eells of Indian town reported that the owner of the land Company of Florida were considering the same subject and he thought about it dreams of pink and blue snappers have been heard from. The matter still is to be heard from. The matter still is to be heard from the commissioners as unfinished business.

FORECAST BRINGS HAPPINESS BY DATA

Weather Man Gets All Sorts of Inquiries.

New York—"Please," asked the timid voice of a girl over the telephone, "can you tell me whether June 17 will be fair?"

James H. Scarr, New York's veteran weather man, glanced at maps and records on his desk and pondered a moment.

"Why, that's your wedding day isn't it?"

"Yes," the voice faltered in surprise. "Yes, but how did you know?"

"Oh, I just surmised. I can tell you only this about the weather: you will always remember June 17 as the brightest day of your life."

This call came to the weather man exactly a hundred and seventeen days before June 17. It was impossible to forecast accurately what the weather would be on that date would be. Here is his reason for the answer he gave:

One Day to Weddings. "Our greatest enjoyment in life usually comes in anticipation. If I had told her it would be cloudy and rainy on June 17, she would have experienced 117 days of worry. But with what I told her she had 117 days of delightful anticipation."

"I figured that if it rained on June 17, there would be only one day of worry and that she hardly would notice the rain anyway in the excitement and joy of getting married."

Brides-to-be are among the 1,500 persons who daily call the weather bureau for information. On the same days the office operator lists as many as 1,000 "busy calls."

People planning picnics, parties, the tired clerk who wants to know whether work out of several will be best for him to take his vacation; officials preparing for conventions call; managers selecting opening nights for new plays.

All Want Information. "Millionaires who want to set sail on yachts for distant points constantly are served by the bureau. Ships are kept in close communication with this and other offices."

The ice cream manufacturer wants to know the weather outlook for the week-end. If Saturday and Sunday are to be cool and sunny, he saves money by getting down on the output. If clear and hot, he is ready for a big business. He likewise calls for daily reports.

The weather man often is asked if the moon was shining on a certain night months ago, whether it was shining, whether it snowed or rained or what was the temperature on such and such a date.

This information mostly is in the

They say the wind blew the knotholes out of yellow pine shacks. They say it picked coconuts off of east coast trees and dropped 'em in yards on the west coast. They say—

One notion is that Florida will lead California at the game of minimizing. It has more opportunities for exercising talent in that direction. All California does is to issue an earthquake story lead like the account of a child tumbling down stairs. But Florida can undertake to translate mosquitoes into lightning. Noise, the best of welcome breezes from the electric fan and a busted boom into a routine readjustment of property valuations.

mand for court trials of civil and criminal cases. The weather record plays an important part in many cases and on some days Mr. Scarr visits as many as seven different courts.

Firemen Rip Up Walk to Free Trapped Girl

Cleveland, Ohio.—Firemen and neighbors fought for nearly an hour to release a yellow-haired girl of three from a straitjacket which she became trapped while at play.

Axes and picks tore up a cement sidewalk and broke into the clay drain pipe to free the child.

Just before supper Eleanor Banas was playing with her sister, Helen, eight, and some other children in a neighbor's yard. Near the back corner of the house the drain pipe from the roof had been broken off at the sidewalk, and the child was toddling along the walk when she stepped into the drain up to her hip. Immediately she set up a wail.

Neighbors came running. Men going home from work tried to help but the shoe had been caught below the person. Someone called the fire department.

Battalion Chief James Flynn showed her shiny things and got down on his knees to quiet her. Her wail subsided to only a whimper.

Snakeskin Jackets

Now in Vogue in Paris. Paris—Snakeskin spats and pocket-books and now snakeskin jackets have made their appearance on the Champs-Elysees and at the Longchamp races. These startling reptilian coats, which are worn enough to make any serious drinker believe his dreams of pink and blue snappers have been heard from. The matter still is to be heard from the commissioners as unfinished business.

When they are perturbed to resemble the mottled skin of a rattlesnake, usually turned to light brown color. The snakeskin effect is produced by glazing the material.

THE CLEWISTON IDEA

RECLAMATION

Clewiston and Clewiston Farms represent the most notable sub-drainage project with water control for agriculture in Florida.

INDUSTRY

Clewiston, planned for a model city from the standpoint of health and beauty and desirability as a place to live, has a great industrial program that will make it also a "Payroll City." Prosperity is not seasonal, but permanent in such a city.

AGRICULTURE

Clewiston Farms land, covering thousands of acres, is largely made up of the black muck soil that is making the southern rim of Lake Okeechobee famous. Experts have declared this soil, after reclamation, to be the richest in the known world available for cultivation.

TRANSPORTATION

Clewiston is approximately 65 miles from either Fort Myers or West Palm Beach on the Empire Trail (cross-state highway route No. 55) now nearing completion. It is also the terminus of the Atlantic Coast Line Railway's Haines City Division.

Study these great factors that surely build prosperity and that make Clewiston the Keystone of the New Empire of Central Florida. Come and see Clewiston and Clewiston Farms for yourself and learn thoroughly the foundations are laid for carrying out "The Clewiston Idea."
